BROKEN LEG.—At the state fair races at 5 p. m., the brown mare Darwinnian ran away and smashed her sulky, dragging her driver. Childs quite a distance his leg was broken above the ankle. He was removed to Mrs. Allen's boarding house on Front street, where he received medical treatment from the surgeons Drs. Byrd and Smith and Dr. Lemieux. He rested well last night and was taken to the morning overland train to be sent to the Portland hospital.

LIFE MEMBERS.—The old state agricultural society voted at its meeting to reduce the price of life membership from $20 to $10, and by applying at the society meeting Friday night, before 7:30, can be elected a life member for $10. The life members make their own bylaws and own the property of the fair in reality. There ought to be a hundred new members.

A HAPPY MAN.—Joseph Kuerten is one of Salem's happy business men. In one year he has built up a big industry in the Salem Soap and Chemical Works. He has made a strong and successful appeal to home pride in a home industry by his monument of soaps at the state fair pavilion. There is soap enough to wash all the children's faces in Oregon.

PREMIUMS.—The force at Secretary Gregg's office will begin paying premiums Saturday, at 10 o'clock. Premiums will be paid in full with checks on the Ladd & Bush bank, and all will get their cash for their warrant. Not near all the premium money will be taken up. There is 20 per cent off where there are no competitors, and of this sort there will be a great many.

LIGHT FINGERED DRUNK.—Yesterday one Kinney Gaunt stole several gold pens and other articles at the Patton booth of the state fair, and when arrested in the evening was dead drunk. On trial this morning he was fined $25, which he will work out, and thus contribute to the improvement of Salem's streets.

THE OLD WAY.—Of going to the state fair was in back. Farmers came for miles and paid $10 a day to run a hack to the state fair. They often made $100 to $200 a week. The Electric railroad carries you easier, quicker, cheaper and displays the wonderful progress of the age.

WADE'S OPERA COMPANY.—which has occupied the boards at the opera house this week will close their engagement tonight with the favorite comic opera, the "Mikado," and to give every one an opportunity of hearing this splendid company, prices will be reduced to 25 and 50 cents.

WALKED IN.—Many walked into the state fair this year, but their number is small compared with those who walk into Van Eaton's for the choicest fruits and groceries.

OPALS.—We have a few "opal" plates left, and until they are gone, we will make opal pictures at a reduced price. Sperry, the artist, Commercial street corner Court, Salem. d-4f

RARE RELICS.—W. W. Martin, the jeweler, today sold a couple of the old pale yellow pure gold beaver five dollar pieces for $25. They were coined at Oregon City in 1849 and are now only rarely met with.

PERSONAL AND LOCAL.

Mrs. T. McF. Patton and sister, Miss Lydia Buss, will leave for Chicago on Monday, the 25th, to visit their old home in that city and be at the world's fair during its closing month. Miss Buss is well known at Salem, almost her adopted home.

Try Cottolene instead of poor lard at Harritt & McIntyre's. The shipping and pattern department of the state Store Works, is running, employing twenty to thirty men. When an order is received the foundry is run too. Supt. Fleming reports a brighter outlook for business.

Pills promote constipation—Simmons Liver Regulator cures constipation.

Hundreds of housekeepers seem to prefer the wonderful new shortening material Cottolene, to poor lard, and Harritt & McIntyre's sales of it are increasing every day. Try it.

Charles Benson will probably start for the world's fair Monday.

THE FAIR is headquarters for bargains in everything.

"Barney" Simpson, one of the candidates for the Salem postoffice, is making an efficient marshal at the state fair. Among the busiest folks in town this week are the Lockwood messengers, who are proving a great benefit to fair patrons.

Thomas Mahan, of Gervais, hopes by January to be getting more than 25 cents for oats and 50 cents for wheat. We believe he will unless all signs fail.

Fine weather is coming to the rescue of the state fair. Dame Nature has sought to make up for her drenching the fore part of the week by the most perfect days imaginable the latter part.

COMING TO TOWN.

The farmers are pouring in by the thousands and Saturday bids fair to be as big a day as was ever recorded at the state fair. Oregon has the people, the climate, the soil, the products, the fair grounds and buildings and under favorable circumstances ought to have the grandest state fair on the coast. Specialization and organization ought to make each department just as perfect as a success as the pavilion is, where Supt. Savage and the Salem business men have made a great show for its size as there is on earth.

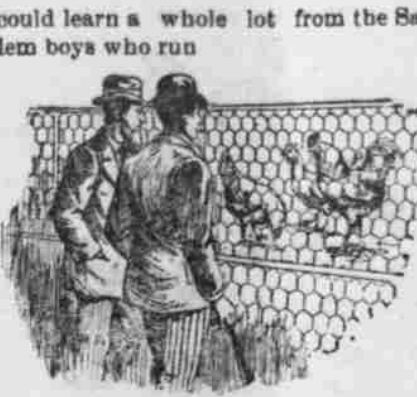

are very exhilarating. One of the attractive sights is the loud-voiced, humorous, inexhaustible candy maker at the entrance.

IN THE PAVILION.

A few young men at Salem each year get up a poultry show with 500 to 1000 exhibits and without any help from the state and all the state fair needs is a man like "Billy" Savag at the head of each department and responsible for the success of it, and less antiquarians to interfere, and it would surpass even the most sanguine expectations. Mrs. F. A. Wolfe, sweepstakes largest and best exhibit fruit, 1st; Mrs. Ruth Rubie, 2d.

C. H. Chapman, quinces, 1st; G. M. Griley, 2d.

The Fruit Palace has had a hard time of it this year. In the first place the committee got started too late and then all fruit was nearly a month late. The farmers and fruit growers who were expected to bring in contributions did not come at all. The result is the best that could be got under the circumstances, and C. Marsh, superintendent of the Fruit Palace, deserves all the credit for the display. A constant stream of visitors are in attendance and there is a good display of all the staple fruits, which impresses beholders with the substantial bill of fare a man can have for his labors in Oregon. There are several hundred samples of a peck each.

HOP ITEMS.

Fifty thousand pounds of the new hop crop have been contracted by growers in the vicinity of Harrisburg at sixteen cents. The buyers were from Eugene and Albany and advanced seven cents for picking.—Ex.

Official reports say that the hop crop of Germany will be smaller this year than it has been for fifty years before.

The following good hop items are from Three Sisters, published at Barlow, Canby and Aurora:

In conversation with a reliable hop grower of this section who has wide experience in shipping abroad and selling to buyers at home, we find that his realizations on various crops has always paid greater returns for home sales than for foreign shipments.

A riot occurred between Chinese and Japanese hop pickers at Peter Rooney's ranch near Perkins. The Japs claimed that the Chinese would pick all the good hops and leave the bad ones for them. Both sides were pretty badly used up.

W. S. Tull picked about twenty bales of hops, making 5000 pounds out four acres. This is the first crop and an extra fine quality. Mr. Tull says he will not sell as yet as he thinks they will bring forty cents.

A bunch of hops was brought in from near Townsend with a new pest in the shape of a green worm which eats the hop and gives it the appearance of having been blighted or blasted with the wind.

The Brewers' Journal comes out strong in relation to the crop of 1893, and says it has no patience with those dealers who are wandering over the country telling the growers that the hop crop of the country will be fully equal in quantity to that of 1892. It says such men do harm instead of helping themselves, as most growers are too constant readers of reliable papers to be fooled in such a manner. The Journal says there will be an immense shortage, and prices must necessarily advance very soon after harvest.

New York, Sept. 15.—Hops continue very quiet, buyers are taking hold of raw goods slowly, and values are declining. The best Pacifics are quoted at 21 a 21 1/2 c. One thousand and sixty-four bales of California hops have arrived.
